Bay Highway Scene of Two Early Mishaps

George Despres, 32, Of Hillsborough, Is Auto Victim

Bayshore highway motor car accidents killed one man and injured four others, including Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Nevers, early on Wednesday morning.

The dead:

The injured:

Ernie Nevers, 654 Creek drive, Menlo Park, cuts on the forehead and bruises.

Harold Hilliard, 23, 147 Silvain avenue, San Bruno, broken right wrist.

Despres was killed when he was struck by a machine driven by Burrel Leonard, 24-year-old college graduate student whose home is at Cupertino.

HAPPENS AT 3 A. M.

Leonard told Deputy District Attorney Louis B. Dematteis this morning that as he was returning home about 3 a. m. on the Bayshore highway near Brisbane Despres ran in front of his machine, and he was unable to avoid hitting him. Despres had parked his car alongside the highway, and was evidently returning to his machine after having been on the other side of the road, Leonard said.

The youth picked up the man and rushed him to the Mission Emergency Hospital in San Francisco, but Despres was dead on arrival.

HEAD-ON CRASH

Nevers, former Stanford all-American football star and now assistant coach at the university, and his wife were injured when their machine collided with the one driven by Hilliard about 12:15 a. m. just north of South San Francisco. Sutherland was riding with Hilliard.

According to Patrolmen Wallace and Francis, who also investigated this accident, Hilliard's car crashed head-on into that of the Nevers, who were returning to their home. They continued on their way and were given treatment at the Palo Alto Hospital. Although, according to officers, Hilliard's machine was on the wrong side of the road, Nevers refused to prosecute them.

Auto Theft Charges Faced After Crash

Dominic de Ranzio, 27, of San Francisco, was booked at the county jail here last night to face possible auto theft charges, after a car he was driving collided with one of Dr. Howard Mayers of San Mateo.

Patrolmen Walter Sequeira and Chester Kreiss reported finding de Ranzio hiding under a pile of lumber at Mills Field following the accident. The car, the officers reported, had been stolen from San Francisco. Officers found a butcher knife on the seat of the automobile.

DRS. MORRISON AND WHITNEY SUCCEED PRIOR CHOICES OF MANAGER KELLOGG

The board reconvened after the chairman was stricken and created a new county board of health, composed of the following:

Dr. N. D. Morrison, San Mateo.
Dr. H. H. Whitney, Burlingame.
R. E. Longwell, Millbrae.
Louis Goecken, Burlingame.
Miss Pansy Jewett Abbott, county schools superintendent, who is ex-officio a member of the health board and serves as secretary.

The four new health board members were recommended to the supervisors by County Executive Walter Kellogg, who had made two changes since his announcement of Friday when he had given out the names of Drs. H. C. Warren, Belmont, and H. L. Mawdsley, San Mateo.

The latter two declined to serve, it was reported.

Kellogg informed the board that the appointments of Drs. Morrison and Whitney had the approval of the San Mateo County Medical Society.

Approval of the new health board, which supplants the remnant board of Dr. E. W. Cleary, Burlingame, and Elsa McGinn, San Mateo, came upon motion of Supervisor Albert Witt, Colma, and second of Supervisor Walter High, Burlingame, and was unanimous.

DIRECTOR DELAYED

No attempt to appoint a health director was made by the board today, as Kellogg delayed pressing the name of Dr. J. Paul Sweeney of Millbrae until the health board can function and make its recommendations.

District Attorney Gilbert Ferrell again halted the board proceedings today when Kellogg attempted to put forward the names of the health appointees, declaring that it was necessary to "come to an understanding" before proceeding.

This "understanding" demanded by Ferrell was that all matters which require legal interpretation, such as appointments, should come to him in advance of the meetings so that he could properly advise the board.

He criticised Kellogg's failure to come to him for advice.

HALTS BOARD MEET

Ferrell demanded that the board take a recess, and asked half-hour for a "heart to heart" talk with the board.

At the conclusion of the talk, he asked the supervisors to go to Kellogg's office and when "comfortably seated," to have Kellogg call him up on the telephone and request Ferrell to come into his office.

Ferrell is understood to have re-iterated his demand that the board and the manager co-operate with him in all legal matters in order to iron out difficulties before the county.

It was during this recess that Francis was stricken. He came out of Kellogg's offices walking slowly between William McCarthy, county publicity director, and Dr. Novotny. It was observed that he was pale and walked with uncertainty.

Ferrell, in first halting the meeting and explaining his action, said that the public interest would guide his rulings and that politics and friendships in appointments must be subordinated.

He requested that all matters pertaining to law pass through his offices before they go before the board for action.

Ferrell thanked the board for their co-operation in halting the meeting and "listening to him," and Kellogg thanked Ferrell for his action. The executive pledged his full co-operation to Ferrell.

During the morning meeting, the San Mateo County Taxpayers' Protective League, of which Mrs. Ella Chase is secretary, addressed a communication to the board requesting that Kellogg be asked to resign.

The association also asked that Kellogg made public the "program which Da. Harper Peddicord is asserted to have had laid before him and refused to accept.

The board filed the communication without comment.

Supervisor Fred Beer, San Mateo, was appointed chairman pro tem after Chairman Francis's illness on motion of Supervisor John Poole, Redwood City.

The board adjourned after appointing the health committee because of Francis' absence on suggestion of Supervisor Witt.

CITY COUNCIL TO MEET

An ordinance approving the city planning commission's plans for the widening of El Camino Real is expected to be presented, and other matters considered, when the city council meets at 8 o'clock this evening at the fire house.

SEMESTER BRINGS BIG ENROLLMENT

Sequoia to Lose 16, Gain 140 Students This Week-End

With the end of the first semester rapidly approaching, plans were being made today at Sequoia high school for the welcoming of nearly 140 new students next week and for the graduating of about 16 at the end of this week.

Of the students who are finishing their work, some will receive their diplomas at once, while others will return in the spring to be graduated with their class, A. C. Argo, principal, said. No formal commencement exercises are held at mid-term.

With the entrance of the new freshmen, most of whom will come from the McKinley school here, enrollment at Sequoia high school will be boosted to about 1540, the largest figure in the history of the local plant. Attendance, figured by subtracting the number who have dropped school or transferred from the total enrollment, will be about 1350.

To take care of the increase, four new teachers have been added to the staff: Miss Muriel L. Maloney, Mrs. Marguerite Proctor, Charles W. Shepherd and James Thornton. Mrs. Shirley Johns, who has been handling four study periods, will teach two classes next semester, handling three study periods also.

Besides these new teachers, 22 practice teachers from Stanford will be used here next semester. Most of them will work in the room with regular teachers, assisting, observing and doing some actual teaching.

KEY REPORTED READY TO DEAL

RFC Loan Will Permit Public Ownership Of Span Carrier

Contracts to conform to the demands of attorneys of bay district cities and counties will be negotiated for soon by the Key System, it was reported yesterday as it was learned here that under the proposed $15,000,000 RFC loan, public ownership of an interurban train system over the bay bridge will be possible.

The RFC acceded to the request of Governor Merriam and Earl Lee Kelly, state director of public works, that the door be left open for public ownership, according to a telegram received by F. M. McAuliffe, attorney for the California Toll Bridge Authority.

A. J. Lundbergh, president of the Key System, conferred with McAuliffe late in the day on the clarification of eight points in the "demand" program of the city legal advisers.

Legislation broadening the power of the authority and permitting it to operate a state-owned railroad on the bridge and feeder lines has been drafted by McAuliffe and sent to Kelly.

Kelly is working for solid support of this legislation, and announced in Sacramento that the several bills will be introduced by the joint assembly and senate delegations from San Francisco, San Mateo, Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

Kelly declared that the RFC modification will make it possible for the authority to initiate the interurban electric railway and operate it or lease it to responsible publicly-owned bodies without jeopardizing the loan.

Negotiations between the authority and the Key and Southern Pacific were suspended some time ago after tentative contracts had been drawn and various civic groups and citizens sent up a cry of "gift," and "steal."

Qualification Board Set-Up Wins Approval

Return of Appointive Officers to Old Status Urged

Two amendments to San Mateo county's charter, one to re-establish the qualification board, and the other to make the decision of the board of supervisors final in the suspension of appointive officers of the county were agreed upon by the former members of the board of freeholders and citizens at a meeting in the Burlingame city hall last Tuesday night.

It was decided to put these amendments before the people at a special election in time for ratification by the present legislature, now in session, if passed by the electorate.

James B. Howell of Atherton presided at the meeting. He explained the amendments which had previously been suggested by 10 members of the former freeholder board and read a proposed amendment suggested by another group.

ELECTIVE MANAGER

This third amendment, drafted by the legislative council at Sacramento at the request of San Mateo county citizens, would place the presently-appointed officers back on an elective bassis and would include the manager as an elective officer.

The proposed qualification board would comprise five members, one from each supervisorial unit and elected by the district. They would be elected as provided for under the general laws in the election of supervisors.

The board would pass on qualifications of all applicants to the positions of county executive, recorder, treasurer, tax and license collector, county engineer, coroner and public administrator, purchasing agent and building inspector.

It would have the power to call for applications for positions to be filled and select the names of not less than two nor more than five of the best qualified.

BOARD TO SELECT

These names would be submitted to the board of supervisors, which in turn would select the appointee. Under the proposed amendment the supervisors would be forced to make the appointment from the five names submitted.

Whether or not the number of names submitted to the supervisors could be limited to five was questioned. Some thought this might be contrary to general law as it took away from the appointive powers vested in the board of supervisors.

The second proposed amendment gave final power to the board of supervisors to any appointive officers, the suspended official having recourse only in the courts.

THIRD AMENDMENT

Before final action was taken on the amendments, several citizens spoke on the present conditions of the county. It was the opinion of those present that the charter was "all right," but that the fault was the administration by those in power.

The third amendment, read by Chairman Howell, would return all employes who were formerly elected by the people, back to that status. It also would include the election of the county executive.

The amendment would retain the important features of unified road district and the election of supervisors at large.

No action was taken on the third amendment, as it was felt that if a special election was called, proponents could see that it was included on the ballot.

NEW WILLYS 77 ON DISPLAY SOON

The new 1935 Willys is making its first appearance at the automobile show in San Francisco this week and will soon be on display at the showrooms of W. G. Dandy, 709 Highway, local Willys dealer.

The Willys 77 presentations include three models—a sedan, coupe and panel delivery truck.

The streamline of the new cars again emphasizes the advantage of speed and economy, according to Mr. Dandy.

With "floating power" mounting, the engine is capable of delivering a speed of 70 mies an hour and it is said to have estabished economy figures of 30 miles per gallon of gasoline.

While much improvement is shown in the engineering of the car, important developments, too, have been made in the matter of driving comfort, Dandy stated.

The four-door sedan sells for $559 delivered in Redwood City.

Council Adopts Code Covering Milk Supply

Deciding against setting up a barrier to milk pasteurized outside of Redwood City, the city council on Monday abandoned an ordinance introduced two weeks ago and adopted a less restrictive one.

The city of San Mateo took similar action last night.

The new ordinance permits distribution within the city of milk pasteurized inside the county.

The prior ordinance attempted to require pasteurization of all milk within the city. It would have restricted sales to but few local dairies unless outside firms established their pasteurizing plants here.

Under a new county ordinance, all pasteurized milk distributed in San Mateo county must be treated at plants within the county. This has resulted in the establishment of pasteurizing plants by a number of San Francisco dairies and it was the goal of the council to bring some of the plants here, if possible, in advocating the milk ordinance.

Attorney Edmund Scott appeared before the council in behalf of certain local dairy interests and revealed their wish for a broader ordinance than the restrictive one presented two weeks ago.

drafted the ordinance expressing the desires of the various dairy interests, and it was presented upon motion of Councilman Evans Fletcher, seconded by Councilman James Eva.

The ordinance will become effective 30 days after final passage—about March 6.

SETBACK ESTABLISHED

The council introduced an ordinance establishing the 17-foot setback line on El Camino Real in keeping with the recommendations of the city planning commission.

Construction of permanent buildings within the setback line is prohibited but use of the property is permitted until the state acquires it for highway purposes.

The ordinance was introduced upon motion of Councilman Fletcher, seconded by Councilman Paul McCarthy.

The council adopted a resolution providing for the impounding by the state of the city's quartercent gasoline tax share. When a sizeable fund is built up, the city will use it for widening El Camino Real.

PARK IS NAMED

Naming of the new city park on Roosevelt avenue as Horace Hawes Park, a suggestion of City Planner Daniel Stafford and recommended by the city planning commission, was approved by the council upon motion of Councilman Eva, seconded by Fletcher.

The council authorized S. P. McClenahan of Palo Alto to undertake the preservation of an oak tree in the park at a cost of $132. Work of presrving five other trees at a cost of $138 was deferred for further attention.

APPROVE WATER PLAN

The Greater South Redwood Improvement Club expressed its appreciation to the city council for adopting the mixed-water plan instead of Hetch Hetchy as it was stated that many persons could not afford the greater cost.

The communication was signed by Maude Schafer as secretary of the club.

On query of Councilman George McNulty, City Building Inspector I. C. Drathman informed the board that the attempted use of the Buben property for two family dwellings has resulted in a police citation.

An ordinance changing the name of May street to Hudson street was adopted.

Spinach Truck Kills Couple Pushing Auto

Watsonville Japanese Freed Here After Fatal Mishap

Crushed behind their motor car which they were laughingly pushing on the Bayshore highway after they had run out of gasoline, M. A. Duel, 24, and his wife, Patricia, 27, San Francisco hotel people, received fatal injuries shortly before midnight last night when they were struck by a truck driven by Saturo Muramota, 26-year-old Watsonville produce dealer.

With Miss Amelia Ackerman, 19, a friend, the couple were returning to their home at 473 Ellis street, San Francisco, when they ran out of gasoline near the University avenue intersection of the Bayshore road in East Palo Alto, just inside the San Mateo county line.

Leaving Miss Ackerman to steer the car, the couple started to push it to a nearby gasoline station.

OBSCURE LIGHT

Muramota, going in the same direction in his truck, failed to see the machine until he was upon it. He swerved to the right, but couldn't clear the car or the couple pushing it, and crushed them. The tail light of the couple's car was obscured by one of them, Muramota, who was questioned by highway patrolmen and Deputy District Attorney Louis B. Dematteis, said. He was not held.

Rushed to the Palo Alto Hospital, Mrs. Duel died at 12:30 a. m. Her husband passed away at 2 a. m. while on the way to the operating room, hospital attendants reported.

DRIVER NOT HURT

Miss Ackerman was not injured.

The bodies were taken to the Tinney Funeral Home in Palo Alto.

Highway Patrolmen Kreiss and Sequeira investigated the accident.

Deaths of the two San Franciscans brought to seven the total motor car fatalities in San Mateo county this year.

STATE FUNDS FOR BEACHES UNFORESEEN

County's $10,000 Will Not Be Matched At Present

That there are no state funds available at the present time to match the $10,000 set up by the county to buy beach sites on the coastside was the report today to the supervisors of Ronald Campbell, planning engineer.

The state, Campbell said, has considered only two recreational areas—Butano Forest and Ano Nuevo Point—both of which are out of reach of present county funds.

Campbell informed the board that 377 lots along the coast beaches are now owned by the state, and 48 lots have tax delinquencies extending to 1929. These could not be purchased until 1936. He said that most parcels are too small for recreational purposes.

An exchange of scattered lots for one solid block parcel might be possible, Campbell said, and he requested permission to make this study.

Campbell submitted four coast beach projects and asked permission to secure development of these by the use of SERA labor.

Officers Reveal 2 Dope Suspects Are Ex-Convicts

Revelation that the two people—Mathew and Helen Gallagher—held in jail here on narcotics charges are ex-convicts was made today. Gallagher is reported as a three-time loser, having served sentences in San Quentin, Leavenworth and Folsom, all for narcotic law violations. He is described by state agents as one of California's "big shot" dealers.

He and his wife, Helen, have dealt in more than $150,000 worth of morphine since last October, the officers said.

Gallagher will be charged with possession in San Mateo county and transportation in San Francisco, officers said. He faces life imprisonment under California's habitual criminal law. The wife will be charged in San Mateo county with possession only.

MENLO PARK

There was a large gathering last evening at the whist party given in Masonic hall by Menlo Park Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West.

Wild pigeons are seen in large flocks on the Flood estate and adjoining lands. The bird is protected by the federal government and cannot be hunted except for two weeks out of the year.

The recent rains have swollen the stream in the San Francisquito creek so that it is higher than it has been in ten years.

Snow on the Skyline boulevard is luring many from here who have never before beheld such a sight.

It is rumored that Judge Hoss will be appointed city judge, the position being made vacant by the resignation of D. E. Sullivan at the meeting of the city council held Tuesday evening. Hoss formerly held the place but resigned to devote all his time to his private business.

More building will have to be done in Menlo Park very soon as there is not a vacant dwelling in town and many are clamoring for houses. This is the case in most of the peninsula cities. Prosperity is certain to return when a building boom starts.

Harry Morey, the newly appointed postmaster for Menlo Park, says the business of his office is very heavy due to the rapidly increasing population.

Miss Ruth Rugaard, the guest of Miss Carmel O'Keefe for the past two weeks, has returned to her home in Walnut Grove, Sacramento.

It is reported that there is a large run of salmon up the San Francisquito creek to the head waters to spawn. They are stopped by the Stanford dam and are compelled to return to their home in the bay.

The Menlo Park City Council Tuesday refused to adopt proposed milk regulations designed to prevent the sale within the city of milk pasteurized outside San Mateo county.

The meeting was further marked by disagreement over Councilman Henry Carroll's motion that Jean Hoss, former municipal court judge, be appointed successor to Police Judge Daniel E. Sullivan, resigned.

Selection of a new judge was postponed until the next council meeting, after the "new deal" group had divided for the first time.

The council tabled proposed amendments to the city milk ordinance after James E. Pembroke, Menlo Park rancher, attacked the proposals as a move to put control of milk "in the hands of a trust."

"This is not a health measure but merely an act in restraint of trade," Pembroke said.

Carroll's move to name Hoss as judge quickly struck a snag when Councilman E. H. Hart recalled that Carroll last April joined with Mayor James E. Cooper and Irving Dunne of the "new deal" slate to oust a former judge on the grounds that he was not a trained attorney. Hoss is not an attorney.

Carroll replied that he has the privilege of changing his mind.

Narcotics Suspect Goes Free on Bail

Grace Moore was not the name of the woman who spent Sunday night in jail here following her arrest on a narcotics charge, it was revealed yesterday when she appeared before Police Judge L. F. Kinnell in San Mateo. Just what was her name even the judge doesn't know.

But when she appeared before him, Judge Kinnell visualized her staying in jail when he set bail at $250 cash. He evidently hadn't seen her purse, however, for the woman, modishly dressed, opened it, took out a large roll of currency and calmly selected $250 in cash and handed it to the judge.

"My name is not Grace Moore or Helen Beck, as that complaint says, judge," said the woman in low tones. "I am concealing my identity because I do not want my children to know. I am not a member of a drug selling ring as this officer charges, but I'll be here for the preliminary on the 29th."

With that she smiled, bowed and went out, still as mysterious as when she entered court.

TOOL THEFT CHARGED

SAN BRUNO, Jan. 22.—Charged with stealing a number of tools from the San Mateo high school, Harry H. Thompson of San Francisco was being held today, following his arrest here last night. According to Police Chief William H. Maher, Thompson admitted taking the tools.

Mrs. Easterday was reported to have been sitting in the yard with her back to the herd of cows from which the one attacking her strayed.

Local Man Seeks $10,000 Damages

Edward Edwards of Redwood City yesterday filed a $10,806.66 personal injuries suit against N. C. Nielsen in the Santa Clara county superior court.

Edwards, represented by Attorney Fred W. Comba of Redwood City, seeks the amount as damages for concussion of the brain and hip injuries he received when his car and the Nielsen motor car crashed near Sunnyvale, January 11 of this year.

Plaintiff said he was en route to San Luis Obispo to be employed in the advertising and publicity business when the collision occurred.

Youth Held Following Crash in Underpass

James Zunino, 24, of 429 Oak avenue, was being held in the county jail here today on an investigation charge after his arrest by State Highway Patrolman Lloyd Minehan following an accident in the South San Francisco underpass last night.

Zunino, according to the officer, apparently went to sleep and crashed into the mail truck of Claude L. Church of Mills Field.

Guy C. Smith of Cloquet, Minn., shot an albino deer with pink eyes. The animal, weighing 60 pounds, was completely white except for two small yellowish patches.

Harold Baxter Dies In Santa Cruz Surf

Search was proceeding today in the ocean near Liddell Beach, 11 miles west of Santa Cruz, for the body of Harold Baxter, 31, of Los Altos, who was drowned yesterday afternoon after being washed from the rocks at "Devil's Quay." He was on a fishing expedition with Donald P. Patrick, of Redwood City.

Baxter had been fishing only a few minutes when a wave struck him. Falling on the slippery rocks, he apparently was knocked unconscious, and he was carried out to sea.

COCONUT LAYER CAKE

(1 egg)
2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat well after each addition. Add vanilla. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Double recipe to make three 10-inch layers. Spread Seven Minute Frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake. Sprinkle each layer and outside of cake thickly with Baker's Coconut Southern Style, while frosting is still soft.

SEVEN MINUTE FROSTING

2 egg whites unbeaten
1½ cups sugar
5 tablespoons water
½ teaspoon light corn syrup
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Put egg whites, sugar, water, and corn syrup in upper part of double boiler. Beat with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water; beat constantly with rotary egg beater, and cook 7 minutes or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from fire, add vanilla, and beat until thick enough to spread. Makes enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 9-inch layers.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE CAKE

(1 egg)
2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
2 squares Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate, melted
1 egg, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup milk

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add chocolate and blend, then add egg and vanilla. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Bake in greased pan 8x8x2 inches, in moderate oven (325 deg. F.) 1 hour. Cover cake with Fudge Frosting. Double recipe for two layers.

FUDGE FROSTING

2 squares Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate, cut in pieces
2 cups cold milk
2 cups sugar
Dash of salt
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add chocolate to milk and place over low flame. Cook until mixture is smooth and blended, stirring constantly. Add sugar, salt, and corn syrup, and stir until sugar is dissolved and mixture boils. Continue cooking without stirring, until a small amount of mixture forms a very soft ball in cold water (232 deg. F.). Remove from fire. Add butter and vanilla. Cool to lukewarm (110 deg. F.). Beat until of consistency to spread. Cover tops and sides of two 9-inch layers.

OBJECTION MADE TO SPAN DEMANDS

New Terminal Plan For Bay Bridge Presented

Objection to terms laid down by bay region attorneys for interurban train transportation over the new bay bridge has come from the Key System, it was learned here today.

Key System officials, according to the State Toll Bridge Authority, have announced they believe six months would be an "adequate period" during which they would pledge not to seek bridge rates higher than present transbay fares.

However, A. J. Lundberg, Key president, declared last night his company "has made no decision."

A new plan for interurban transportation terminals in San Francisco was proposed yesterday by the Business Property Owners' Association.

The new plan provides that tracks from the transbay bridge shall swing to the left near First street and loop around to Brannan street, to the Embarcadero and thence north, passing in front of the Ferry building to a point near Jackson street where a loop will provide return facilities.

Called the Embarcadero plan, the advocates declare it will cost less to put into effect than Plan X now under consideration.

It is proposed that an addition be erected to the Ferry building, running the full length and wide enough to provide four or more loading tracks and platforms. The addition will conform to the present architectural features of the Ferry building.

Decapitated Body Found By Railroad

A body tentatively identified from an airmail letter as that of M. Kaufman, about 40, of Albany, N. Y., was found at 9:40 p. m. last night lying besides the Southern Pacific tracks near South San Francisco.

The man appeared to be well dressed.

Coroner William Crosby and Deputy Silvio Nieri, who are investigating, reported that evidently the man, suffering from ill health, had committed suicide by lying on the railroad tracks. He had numerous cards pertaining to doctors and hospitals in his pockets, the officials said, leading them to believe he may have been ill. The airmail letter addressed to him was found in his pocket.

SILKEN SPINDLES

by Laura Lou Brookman © 1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GALE HENDERSON, pretty, 23, works in a silk mill. She and her brother, PHIL, 19, support their invalid father.

STEVE MEYERS, who also works in the mill, asks Gale to marry him. She promises to give him an answer in a few days.

That night Gale goes skating on the river. The ice breaks and she is rescued by BRIAN WESTMORE, whose father, now dead, built the mill. Brian asks Gale to wait while he gets his car but when he returns she is gone.

Meanwhile VICKY THATCHER, daughter of ROBERT THATCHER, general manager of the mill, hears that Brian has come home. Vicky changes her mind about taking a trip to Havana.

Next day MARY CASSIDY is discharged from the mill. Gale goes to Mary's home that night. The baby has croup. Gale and a neighbor work to save the child's life.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

THE girl in green leaned back in her chair. "Well," she said, "I see Vicky's out for game."

"Vicky Thatcher? What do you mean?" The little blond with the braids around her head put the question.

"I mean she's out to land the town catch—Brian Westmore. Haven't you seen them?"

"Oh, was that Brian Westmore?" The little blond leaned forward excitedly. "I saw her dancing with a man I'd never seen before. So that's Brian Westmore! Good looking, isn't he? They say he's been in Paris—"

"Yes, my dear, he's been in Paris And he's frightfully good looking. And he's the heir to the Westmore fortune. But don't let that excite you. Vicky Thatcher's made up her mind she's going to have him. so hands off! If you don't—!"

The young man standing before them raised his cocktail glass and drank. "I don't see why you girls all pick on Vicky," he said. "I think she's a darned nice girl."

"Oh, of course she is!" the girl in green went on hastily. "Sweet as can be—when everything goes her way. When it doesn't—watch out! I remember the way she treated Sally Troy at the Lawrences' house party. The Troys left town a couple of months later. And that Evans affair—well, I'm just telling you Don't ever get in Vicky Thatcher's way! When she wants anything she goes after it — and gets it."

"Vicky's a brunet with a blond temperament and a red-head disposition," put in a third girl who had come up and joined the group. "It's a dangerous combination."

"She's so pretty," the little blond said, "it's no wonder men like her."

"They do," the girl in green agreed. "She treats them abominably and they love it. Why is it, will someone please tell me, that girls with the most detestable dispositions are invariably surrounded by fond admirers? Is it because they're so hateful, or in spite of it, that men fall for them? I'd like to know—"

A short, heavily built youth appeared in the doorway. "Oh, there you are, Marj," he said to the girl in green. "I've been looking for you? How about dancing this one with me?"

Strains of a one step—the song hit of a new Broadway show—reached them. The girl in green arose and said, "Of course, Johnny." She put her hand on his arm and they went out into the corridor.

IT was 11:30 and the Country Club dance was in full swing. The big room was filled with dancers—most of them young. Girls in scarlet, in silver, in yellow and blue and a myriad of other colors moved about the floor in the arms of their black-clad partners, creating a gay, constantly shifting pattern.

On the platform at the side of the room the orchestra leader had raised a megaphone to his lips and was singing the despairing chant of a cast-off love, to the throbbing accompaniment of piano, banjo, saxophone.

Vicky Thatcher smiled into the eyes of the man with whom she was dancing. "You do say such nice things, Greg," she said softly.

"Oh, but I mean it! Vicky—I wish you'd pay attention to me."

"But I am, Greg."

"No, you're not. You're not even listening—"

The music came to the final note, ended with a crash. Vicky said, "Darling, do you know what I'd like most in all the world right now? A cocktail—one of those with the cherries, not the other kind."

"All right," said the young man. "Come along—"

But Vicky shook her head. "No," she said, "you get it. You get two cocktails and bring them into the lounge. I'll be waiting for you."

"I won't be a minute—" the young man agreed, turning away.

Vicky flashed a glance after his departing back, then crossed the room to where Brian Westmore was standing with two other men. He saw her and came forward.

Vicky said, "Brian, I'm bored with this party."

"So soon? But we've only just come!"

"I know, but I'm bored just the same."

She took his arm and they moved toward the door—the door opposite the one leading to the lounge. Several heads turned to watch them Brian so tall and broad-shouldered, so casually correct in his tail coat. Vicky resplendent in shimmering silver with a twist of scarlet in her dark hair.

A GROUP near the doorway broke into loud laughter and one of them—a man—called out to Vicky. She answered, smiling, but did not pause.

She said, raising her eyes to Brian's, "Let's get away from this mob. Some place where we can talk."

He followed as she led the way to the glassed in veranda. Now the music was beginning again—a waltz this time, mellow and oversweet. Couples who stood, grouped about the door, began to drift toward the dance floor. Vicky and Brian sat down on a low seat.

The veranda was dark except where patches of moonlight fell on the floor. Vicky leaned far back, sighed comfortably. "Now then," she said, "I want to know all about it."

"About what?"

"About why you left Paris."

"But I told you I've given up studying. I told you I found out I never could be an artist—"

"But that's not true, Brian! Your pictures were gorgeous."

The young man laughed—not a mirthful laugh. "Your opinion," he said, "does little credit to your ability as a critic. No, those pictures were pretty terrible."

"I liked them," the girl assured him. "Still, I'm not sorry you gave up art. I'm really—glad, Brian."

"You are?"

"Yes, because now you'll be here where I can see you. You aren't going to be so busy, are you, that you won't have time to play now and then?"

"Good." Her hand touched his for an instant, withdrew.

Brian took a cigaret case from his pocket, opened it. "Cigaret?" he offered.

She took one and he struck a match. A moment later two tiny flames punctuated the darkness.

"Well, I'm glad to be back, too," Brian said casually. "Oh, it was a disappointment—finding I couldn't do the thing I'd set my heart on. But that's all over now. I'm glad to be home again."

VICKY said. "That girl you introduced us to in Paris—the one with the red hair. What's become of her?"

"Reba?"

"Yes, that was her name. I remember now."

"Haven't heard of her in months," Brian said. "She took it into her head to go off somewhere. Scotland, I think. Promised to write but I never heard from her."

The girl's voice went on, casually, carefully controlled. "She was a pretty girl. I thought you were rather fond of her." There was the faintest questioning inflection.

"Oh, I was," Brian assured her. "Reba's a good sort."

"But you weren't—in love with her?"

"Lord, no! By the way, what's this I hear about you and Greg Harmon?"

The girl laughed—a silky, rustling sort of laugh. "Greg," she said, "is a nice boy and I like to dance with him. If you've heard any more than that—"

"I've heard he's lost his head over you."

"Ridiculous," the girl said. "We're just good friends, Greg and I."

"Well, he's a nice fellow."

"Of course," the girl agreed. "But he's so young. I like men, Brian—men who've been places and know what it's all about."

She was very near in the darkness. The fragrance of her hair reached his nostrils.

Brian said, "Vicky Thatcher, you're a dangerous little flirt!"

"Why, Brian!"

"That's what you are and you know it."

"You—you mean you don't like me, Brian?"

"Of course I don't mean anything of the sort. I like you—a lot."

Vicky's head drooped back, resting against his shoulder. "That's what I wanted you to say," she said softly, "because—Brian, I like you, too."

Menlo Park Opens Free Job Agency, Hoss Is Manager

Monday marked the opening of Menlo Park's new municipal employment agency.

The agency sponsored by the city government, will be operated by Jean Hoss, former municipal court judge, in the city hall between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m every day except Sunday. Hoss will work without salary. Services of the agency are free.

Persons wishing work may register at the agency during office hours, Hoss reports. Persons wishing to hire workers are requested to get in touch with the agency either by calling at the city hall or telephoning 4131.

Opening of the agency coincides with a move of Menlo Park to have its own public relief office under SERA, to be headed by a local resident. Jean Hoss has been recommended for the post if it is created. The Menlo Park chapter of the American Red Cross and the city council have requested county authorities to open a relief branch in Menlo Park. With county relief headquarters centered in Redwood City, the complaint has been made that a hardship is worked on Menlo Park unemployed.

Walter Kellogg Plans Executive County Council

Establishment of a "county executive's council" composed of all county department heads appointed by the executive is being planned by County Manager Walter Kellogg, he revealed today.

The council would meet once a month, probably on the last Tuesday, to discuss matters pertaining to the various departments, reporting on what had been done during the past month and outlining plans for the coming period.

Kellogg said he felt in this manner he could secure first hand information of what was going on in each of the departments, and by having representatives of the press present at each meeting, the people of the county could also be told of the work.

That big things are planned for the county in the next year was emphasized by Kellogg, who, among other things, has been conferring with state officials relative to securing road projects for the county.

Burglars Loot Tribune Safe, Securing $180

Apparently effecting an entrance by prying open a rear window, burglars sometime Saturday night entered the office of The Tribune, picked the lock on the safe in which were deposited the night's receipts, and stole about $180 in cash and checks.

The prowlers also pried open a locked wooden cabinet in which were stored subscription premium gifts, but they apparently were looking only for money, for they evidently took nothing from the cabinet.

Of the loot taken, $140 was in cash.

Local police were today investigating the burglary, which was discovered by a Tribune employe Sunday.

Patrolmen to Watch Coastside Filipinos

All Filipino motorists in the coastside and skyline districts will be stopped and searched for guns and knives and the registration of their automobiles will be checked by state highway patrolmen, Capt. Paul Perussina of the patrol said today.

The precautions are being taken to prevent, if possible, recurrence of trouble similar to that which was reported Monday after five Filipinos allegedly attacked and robbed Steve Triani, Pescadero rancher.

Belmont Fire Board Acquires Property

BELMONT, Jan. 22.—Announcement was made today that the Belmont fire commissioners have acquired the property at O'Neill and Palm avenues, where the firehouse is now located. The lot was purchased from a local real estate firm for $1,220. Of this amount, $100 was turned back to the company to defray cost of moving the building. The property measures 90 feet on O'Neill avenue and 115 feet on Sixth avenue.

At a special meeting called last week by Elwood Curtis, president of the fire department, a resolution was passed urging the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors to retain Bert Werder as county fire warden.

Socialite Returns From Perilous Hop To South America

Mrs. William C. Talbot, Hillsborough socialite, arrived at Mills Field yesterday, returning from one of the most perilous private airplane flights in history.

Her husband and their private pilot, Walter A. Brooks, are still at Belem, Brazil, with their twin-motored giant amphibian.

Mrs. Talbot hurried back by transport plane from the eastern coast because of the ill health of her mother, Mrs. Amy Ruth Christianson of Burlingame.

"Dangerous, hazardous, but exceedingly enjoyable," was Mrs. Talbot's description of the flight she and her husband made from the San Francisco airport over Mexico, Central and South America to Rio de Janeiro.

She was reluctant to discuss the incidents of the flight, but did admit that one engine failed them while flying over the Para river.

"We just landed on the water and taxied back to Para on the remaining engine," she said nonchalantly.

Of the extraordinary flight over the Andes, Mrs. Talbot refused to talk, insisting that her husband should tell about it when he returns from South America in their plane.

Mushroom Farm Deal Results in Suit Here

Alleging that H. P. Gardner of Redwood City, owner of a mushroom farm at San Carlos, violated an agreement made with him, Mike Proto of Belmont today filed suit in superior court for $3,500 damages.

The agreement, made October 4, 1934, provided that Proto be allowed to handle the raising of mushrooms on Gardner's farm, on a 40 per cent commission basis, according to papers in the suit, but Proto avers that Gardner on January 16 abruptly terminated the agreement, refusing to let Proto go upon the premises, and that because of this, Proto has lost $3500 in labor and expected profits.

CITY TO DECIDE ITS POWER OVER SALE OF LIQUOR

What responsibility the city holds for prevention of the sale of liquor to minors was a question which the council Monday night requested City Attorney Albert Mansfield to determine.

Councilman James Eva requested the council to secure the ruling so that the city could prevent the repetition of the sale of liquor to school girls as occurred in San Francisco beer parlors. Eva said there has been no complaint of that situation here. The council's action is precautionary.

One Hurt As 3 Cars Collide at Atherton

Only one person was injured in a three car collision yesterday afternoon on El Camino Real at Stockbridge avenue near Atherton.

Mrs. Nellie Bonner of 1192 Maude avenue, Sunnyvale, was treated at the Palo Alto Hospital for injury to an eye caused by flying glass.

Cars involved were driven by John Nilson, 360 University avenue, Menlo Park; Miss Eernice Baldwin, 58 Barron avenue, Palo Alto; and T. F. Bonner, Sunnyvale.

The accident occured when Miss Baldwin's car struck Nilson's in passing and then swerved into the path of the on-coming Bonner car, according to officers. Miss Baldwin's automobile was badly wrecked.

County Attitude On State Control Of Roads Asked

San Mateo county supervisors today received a wire from W. O. Russell, chairman of the legislative committee at Sacramento, requesting the local attitude toward the proposal endorsed by Governor Merriam that the state take over all county roads.

Russell said it was imperative that the committee know at once the local attitude "in order to combat propaganda."

Chairman Manuel Francis' illness has delayed possible immediate action by the supervisors.

Laundry Driver Takes Own Life Over Ill Health

Believed to have been despondent over ill health, Charles A. Walker, 28-year-old laundry truck driver who lived at 183 Poplar avenue, San Bruno, was found dead in back of Uncle Tom's Cabin on the highway near here on Tuesday. He had bee shot through the head.

Nearby, police found a .32 calibre revolver. Deputy Coroner Silvio Nieri, who investigated, expressed the belief the young man had taken his own life.

His body was found by a 16-year-old high school girl as she was on the way to school this morning. Walker had been dead several hours, according to Nieri.

The youth is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Walker, and a brother and sister. Funeral services will be held in San Bruno Thursday.

Suicide Identified As Being Former Stanford Student

The body found, decapitated, by the side of the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks near South San Francisco Tuesday night has been identified as that of Max S. Kaufmann, former Stanford University student. The young man was reported to have been registered there in 1927 and 1928.

In the pocket of the man's overcoat found near the north entrance of tunnel No. 5, first tunnel north of South San Francisco, was a letter addressed to a brother, Sam, at 342 Madison street, Albany, N. Y. It said, in part:

"Dear Sam and Brother:

"I have come to the end of the trail and am taking the only way out that I can see. Give my love to Anna, Rose, Lily and Pa. If my body is found, have my ashes scattered between Alcatraz and Sausalito on San Francisco bay. I will try to make it so they will not find my body. I will try to save you expense. I am afraid my mind is slipping. Stick to the right and be good."

The young man then lay down on the tracks, and an oncoming train severed his head.

HOME TO COMFORT

AND...
NATURAL GAS HEAT
IT HAS BEEN COLD enough already this winter, but the real need for adequate whole house warmth is here now, this month, and in the month just ahead. Whether your home will be one of comfort and health will depend upon the type of heating equipment it has and the kind of fuel it uses. For California climate the best fuel is gas.
With gas heating, you order the degree and the amount of heating your house requires by handy valve control or automatic thermostat. Hour after hour of lively heat — clean heat that circulates in full-bodied warmth into every cold or draughty corner of a room.
Prepare your house now with modern gas heating equipment to cope with winter's severest weather. Single unit gas heating equipment can be purchased for as little as $16 to $56. Conversion burners for furnaces or stoves cost from $12 to $40. Central furnace systems from $90 to $180 and up. Convenient purchase terms can be made that apply on both cost of equipment and the installation.
